Selectmen's Meeting

TRAFFIC BACK TO NORMAL

Robert Wood, proprietor of Romeo's Package Store on Water Street, urged Selectmen for immediate relief from the one way traffic pattern in effect about a month. In theory, he said that the plan had sounded good, but, in practice, it had proven to be a great burden to business in that area. Mr. Wood's assessment of the one way situation echoed that of a group of a dozen or so people from other parts of the village who appeared July 14 to ask that something be done about the altered traffic flow which has burdened Church Street with the traffic which normally would go west on Water Street and North Street which received a much increased traff because of the diverted flow and the barrier to Water Street. At the July 14th meeting, Al Morgado and Pat Sylvia of Kitchen 21 both said that the increased traffic on Church Street plus the change of one way direction on Cannon Street had hurt their business and residents of Church Street said that they were disturbed by the heavier traffic. Selectmen had arranged a July 28th meeting with townspeople to gather opinion of the one way situation at that time.

After hearing Mr. Wood's discouraged assessment of the one way traffic flow, Selectman James Huntoon said that it was becoming clear that the traffic change was not having the intended effect which had been to aid the business at the top of the wharf by eliminating congestion on Water Street. He suggested that rather then delay until the scheduled meeting,

HARBOR BEACH REPORT

After hearing Mr. James Clemmey report on the 7 day progress of the steps requested of the owners of the Harbor Beach Restaurant to secure and clean up the burned out remains of the building, Selectmen congratulated Mr. Clemmey, business consultant to owner John Stavros, on a most efficient compliance to their order. Mr. Clemmey appeared with Richard Stavros, brother of the owner. He reported that a fire escape had been removed, that all openings to the building had been secured, that liability insurance applications were in progress, that he had arranged for Structural Engineer Fred Law to inspect the site and report on its condition. Mr. Clemmey said that exterminators had baited the site twice and found no evidence of rodents. He said that in the clean up it was discovered that an area which was completely cleaned after the fire had been littered with trash and garbage which had been brought in by people and discarded there. This accounted for the vegetables found there recently and the odor. It was not any part of the restaurant supply, he said, because all of that had been removed following the fire. He said that the grease holding pit had been pumped and was found to be 90% rain water. He said it would be capped to keep out the water.

Mr. Richard Stavros said that while he was in the building during the cleanup he had observed neighborhood children playing unattended on the waterfront stonework. He said he wondered how a building tightly boarded up could pose much of a hazard when compared to that of unsupervised play on the water. "I wouldn't let my kids do it", he stated.

REQUEST ENTERTAINMENT DEVICES

Selectmen told Roger Abreu of the Sly Foxe that they do not favor an increase in the number of amusement devices in his establishment at this time. Mr. Abreu asked their view toward a plan to make a game room annex to the restaurant to amuse young people. The Selectmen said that they felt that the main attraction of the establishment should be toward adult entertainment. Selectman Huntoon said that he had observed a great improvement in the containing of music since the sound proofing of the rear of the building.

GRANGE HALL REQUEST

Selectmen received a request from Chief of Police James Moran to utilize the Grange Hall for a Police Station. According to the chief, there is federal money available for the repair and conversion of the structure for this purpose. Selectmen will ask the

The present exhibit "Local American Folk Art" (folk art is the "hottest" collecting interest in America today) will be at the Museum until August 1st. We strongly encourage the young people to attend this show as well as adults. These old Arts and Crafts collected from the community may never be publicly shown again. The simple yet beautiful forms of the fish weather vanes, decoys, carved boats, and the like encourage one today to try his hand at the same.

The Museum itself has the reputation of being one of the finest of its kind in New England. Don't put off a visit. We are air conditioned and there is ample parking in the rear of the building and bike parking inside the fence. There is a small fee for non-members.

therapy, occupational therapy, and social services to its clients. Medical equipment is also available. An annual blood pressure clinic, monthly well-child clinics, and health counseling sessions for Senior Citizens are also offered by the agency.

In the near future, the MVNA expects to offer a complete hospice program for the terminally ill through contract with St. Luke's Hospital Hospice Program in New Bedford.

During 1980 the agency made 5,424 visits, an increase of 39 percent. In spite of increased costs to the agency, in order to comply with numerous state regulations, Mrs. Margaret Francis, President of the Marion Visiting Nurse Association, reports that "the need for professional home-nursing is ever increasing as many more very ill pateints are being cared for at home. The generous response of the townspeople guarantees the availability of such a vital service to the community."

The nursing staff of the MVNA includes Mrs. Edna C. Archer, R.N., Administrator; Mrs. Mary J. Gallini, R.N.; Mrs. Shirley Hartley, R.N.; and Mrs. Paula Camacho, R.N. The Visiting Nurse office is located at Sippican School and the day telephone number is 748-1020.

Co-chairpersons of the drive are Merry Conway, Nancy McFadden, Cynthia Harlow and Alta Riddell. The captains for the various sections of the town are Jeanne Lake, Shirley Thomas, Betty Cooney, Kathy Feeney, Betsey Parks, Jossy Taylor, Rosita Buckminster, Alta Riddell, Natalie Atwood, and Nancy McFadden.

"If these people make it, they can pretty much thank Gary (Wood)", said the helicopter's co-pilot, Lt. Scott Neeld, "because he was out and away from the copter before we even sat down."

Ms. Poleto died later that day with third degree burns over most of her body and the pilot, Juan Toro, survived.

PUBLIC INVITED AUGUST 15

Members of the Mattapoisett Seniors' Club are busy with plans for their annual food sale, county store, and white elephant event, to be held August 15, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. in St. Anthony's Church Hall. The public is invited.

Members are to be contacted by a telephone committee for donations for the food sale, for white elephants and garden produce during the week of August 8.

The Country Kitchen will be open all day to serve Coffee An' to patrons.

Donations are to be brought to the hall on the evening of August 14, so they may be priced.

Mrs. Jane Welch, chairman of the white elephant sale, can be called at 758-2434 for pick-up of items. Her volunteer aides are Mrs. Belle Valladoa, Mrs. Rose Roeder, Mrs. Elizabeth Marchessault, Mrs. Agnes Pelczar, and Mrs. Betty Heuberger. She is asking for additional help on August 15, she said today.

The Country Store will be staffed by Miss Clare Doyle, Miss Josephine Perry and Joseph and Genie Perry.

Donald Welch, president, will be in charge of the fresh produce table. He anticipates a variety of fresh vegetables from local gardens of members and friends and will arrange for pick-ups. The deadline for receiving donations for his table is 10 a.m. on August 15.

Miss Emily Perry and Mrs. Eileen Hurley head the food sale committee. Sales aides are Mrs. Ethel Gorun, Miss Florence Huet-

ADULT WORKSHOP: SMALL MAMMALS

Focusing on a specific segment of the animal population that inhabitat our local woodlands, our third Adult Workshop will be on "SMALL MAMMALS". There are many interesting facts and stories surrounding the habits and adaptations of mice, moles, voles, shrews and bats. Many of these animals remain nearly invisible to us as they continue their life cycles in hidden habitats, or nocturnal activities. The program will also cover preparation of Museum specimens. This Adult Workshop will be given by SMU instructor Dave Pascal and will begin here at the Museum Barn at 7:30 p.m. this Thursday, July 30th. Those wishing to attend, please call to register; there is a small charge.

turies. Before man could read or write, he watched the stars and wondered of them. They became clocks to tell the time and the passing of seasons, and a means to measure distance and direction. Observing the stars and planets through a telescope can be an unforgettable experience. It is most likely the closest to these extra-terrestrial worlds we will ever come.

The mysteries on the surface of the moon open new avenues for imagination, when viewed through a telescope. And the viewing of each planet in our solar system takes us light years away in time, back into the past, because of the overwhelming distances in space. On Tuesday, August 4th, the Children's Museum will offer its second in the series of Adult Workshops, "The Telescope as a Time Machine". This program is open to adults and older children who are curious about other planets and other worlds. The program will be given by Mr. Gerry Dyck at his home observatory. Don't miss this opportunity to visit the stars. Transportation will leave the Children's Museum at 7:30 p.m. SHARP. Rain date will be Wednesday, August 5th, at the same time. There is a charge.

SATURDAY PROGRAM

The first Saturday in August, the 1st, will feature a craft program entitled "Making Peanut People", starting at 2:00 p.m. Ordinary peanuts will become extraordinary characters under the guidance of Mrs. Diane Biltcliffe who will direct the program. Children ages four and up are welcome and their

The Sturtevant House, circa 1710, faces a revolutionary training green in a small town. The original farm house contained 4 rooms on the main floor and a large loft. A half bath has been added to the main floor and the loft is now 3 comfortable bedrooms with a full tile bath, all opening on a central hall. Authentic features include feather paneling, wide board floors, and a beehive chimney with 3 working hearths. Renovations in 1973 provided a new roof, modern kitchen and zoned heating system.

SATURDAY FIELD WALK

Animals, insects, birds and all the critters that inhabit the natural world around us do not always conduct their daily comings and goings without leaving a trace. For those who can read the signs, animal activity can be interpreted very easily. Signs of foraging for food, signs of battle, birth, death, and decay, none of which are found in the newspapers, are there to be "read" by those who see clues. The Children's Museum will give a free field walk, "Reading the Landscape", interpreting the signs, tracks and trails made by animals on Saturday morning, August 1st, starting at 10:00 a.m., open to all ages.

FRESH WATER LIFE

A combination course delving into the inhabitants of Ponds, Streams, Rivers and Bogs, including Reptiles and Amphibians, Mammals, Birds, Fishes and Insects, for seven year olds and up will be given August 4, 5, 6 and 7 from 2:00 - 4:00 p.m. at the Children's Museum. There will be a charge for this course. Telephone 993-3361.

The inaugural exhibition, The Great Bronze Age of China, 1500-206 B.C., will be toured at a designated time. This exhibit comprises over 100 pieces of bronze and jade, as well as six life-sized terracotta figures from the "army" of the first Emperor of Qin.

Dutch-treat lunch will be served in the new dining facility.

The afternoon will be spent exploring two other major exhibitions. One, the Romantics to Rodin, is the most comprehensive and important exhibition of French 19th century sculpture dating from 1830, the height of the Romantic movement, until 1900, the time when Rodin was the dominant figure in French sculpture.

In addition, there will be an opportunity to visit the Pissaro retrospective of paintings, prints and sketches by this master impressionist.

noag Summer Settlement at the Plantation where native Americans live as their forebears on the banks of the Eel River.

In preparation for the clambake, Wampanoag women will allow a fire to heat the stones in a pit for several hours.

When ready, the pit will be lined with rockweed, gathered from the Bay near Plymouth Rock. Corn on the cob and onions will be placed in the pit first, and other vegetables that take longest to cook. These will be followed by another layer of rockweed and then lobsters and clams. The entire bounty is covered with rockweed and left to steam for an hour.

The Wampanoag Clambake will feed 12 to 14 persons.

Plimoth Plantation is located on Warren Avenue (Route 3A), two miles south of downtown Plymouth. It is open every day from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Admission is charged.

SMU Cabaret Theatre

"BLACK COMEDY" TO LIGHT UP SMU STAGE

Peter Shaffer's "Black Comedy" along with his briefer play, "White Liara", will be presented by the Southeastern Massachusetts University Cabaret Theatre company on August 6-9 and August 13-16.

Curtain time is 8:30 p.m. in the SMU Campus Center. Refreshments will be served. "Peter Shaffer won this year's Playwrighting Tony for 'Amadeus', but that superb drama would not prepare anyone for his earlier hit, 'Black Comedy'", says director Angus Bailey. "'Black Comedy' is probably the funniest farce that's been written since World War II. It has delighted audiences all over the world with its sure-fire combination of sound and sight gags. Shaffer, a normally serious playwright, has proved himself equally adept as a creator of sheer fun."

The cast includes Janice MacDonald, Norm Byron, David Perry, Kathy Fontera, Sally Jones, Richard Fontera, and Abe Novick.

Company manager is Norm Byron; technical director, David Perry; musical director, Michelle Platt; and secretary, Kathy Fontera.

On August 8 only, Broadway Buffet with baked ham and chicken tetrazzini will be served before the show at 7 p.m.

The final production of the summer cabaret season will be Gilbert and Sullivan's "The Pirates of Penzance" on August 20-23 and August 27-30.

of New Englanders, plays in the style of the great New Orleans black bands of the 1920's. In addition to a six-instrument brass section, the band includes a drummer and banjo player.

Cranberry World Manager and Curator Anita Franks says, "We're pleased to have the group back at Cranberry World," and points to New York Times jazz expert John S. Wilson, who cited the Black Eagles as being "so far ahead of other traditional bands around the country there is scarcely any basis for comparison."

After the concert, all are invited to tour the museum, which is sponsored by Ocean Spray Cranberries, Inc. It offers displays and presentations on the history, cultivation, and consumption of cranberries. Free refreshments are served throughout the day as well as during daily cooking demonstrations. In addition, the "Cranberry Gallery" of the museum will be presenting the final weekend of its current art exhibit, "Massachusetts Black Artists".

Cranberry World is located on Water Street, Plymouth, less than a mile north of Plymouth Rock and the Mayflower II. It is open daily from 9:30 a.m. until 5:00 p.m.
